Jumboliscus®

ALTIFLOR is very proud to introduce Jumboliscus®, the brand new Hibiscus rosa sinensis line originating from Louisiana.

This exclusive selection resulting from a harmonic combination of careful human research and nature, includes a large number of varieties which stand out first of all for their wonderful flowers !

What makes the Jumboliscus® flowers so unique is the wide range of extremely fascinating colours which go from the most delicate to the most brilliant ones, and their enchanting nuances: a true delight to your eyes !

One variety is so special that its flowers even change their colour gradually as time goes by thus enabling the full flowering plant to display different flower colours at the same time!

The beauty of the flowers is highlighted by their extraordinary size, up to 18-20cm diameter, as well as by their long-lasting life, 2-3 days, about twice as long in comparison to the flowers of most of the hibiscus varieties commonly available on the market.

The high performance of Jumboliscus® varieties is further enriched by the following technical key points:

- strong growth
- harmonic habitus
- excellent branching

The Jumboliscus® varieties, bred by Dupont Nursery, are currently being submitted for sole licensing in Europe by ALTIFLOR and have just been put on sale starting from this spring. They are available as finished plants in 20cm and 30cm pot as well as 25cm hanging basket, in the following 3 colours:

deep red, bicolour yellow-orange, bicolour white-yellow.

Over the next few years ALTIFLOR plans to put progressively on the market further beautiful varieties thus offering through Jumboliscus® the most complete colour range a hibiscus line has ever offered.

The Jumboliscus® varieties have already captured the attention of both Italian and international specialized press.

The first official acknowledgement came by a “Special Mention” ALTIFLOR has been awarded for this novelty during the “Oroflor” contest held at the Flormart 2011 in Padua, for “the size, the long-lasting life and the colours of the flowers as well as for the strong growth of the plant which make them perfectly fit for decorating gardens and terraces”.
